The eternal city of Rome is perfect for a winter short break – with a lovely southern climate, no crowds and a wealth of sightseeing opportunities that reflect the city’s amazing history, particularly from its time as head of the vast Roman empire and Catholic Church – Roman relics such as the Colosseum, Forum and Pantheon and a vast array of churches such as St Peter’s at the Vatican, Santa Maria Maggiore and San Giovanni in Laterano, the official cathedral church of Rome. There are wonderful squares, atmospheric neighbourhoods, such as Piazza Navona and the Spanish Steps and museums too – the Sistine Chapel is one of the artistic marvels of the world. And don’t forget to throw a coin into the Trevi Fountains – legend maintains that it means you will return!
