Windsor Castle

Windsor and its Castle are renowned throughout the world and the lovely four-star Harte and Garter Hotel in the centre of town is the perfect place from which to explore, offering comfortable bedrooms and a range of dining options. Windsor Castle is, of course, the main sight in the area but there are plenty of other options too – Windsor Great Park is a vast expanse and contains the delightful Saville Garden, one of England's finest ornamental gardens, and a cruise on the Thames with lunch, afternoon tea or dinner offers lovely vistas of the town and the famous royal residence.

This price is based on the following itinerary

Day 1 Travel by coach from local area to Windsor with en-route visit according to location. Welcome dinner at hotel.

Day 2 Morning visit to Windsor Castle, followed by the Saville Garden and afternoon tea cruise on Bateaux Windsor. Dinner by own arrangement.

Day 3 Free time in Windsor before returning to local area with en-route visit according to location

Itinerary upgrades

A wonderful way to see the castle is on a private visit to the state apartments after the castle has closed, finishing with a glass of champagne. These visits are only available at certain times of the year and days of the week but do make the trip to Windsor a very special experience. Combined with a lunch or afternoon cruise on the river, it is a unique way to experience the best that Windsor has to offer and give your group a very privileged experience.

Other sightseeing possibilities in the area include Eton, famed for its college, the National Trust's Cliveden which can be combined with afternoon tea at the luxurious Cliveden Hotel, scene of political intrigue in the Profumo Affair or the gardens at Dorneywood, also owned by the National Trust. Or to keep the royal theme, glorious Hampton Court Palace is about 40 minutes away and makes for a terrific day out. Nearby Frogmore House, a favourite, relatively intimate royal residence is a wonderful place to visit (opening times are very limited). We can tailor-make an itinerary to suit your group's wishes.
